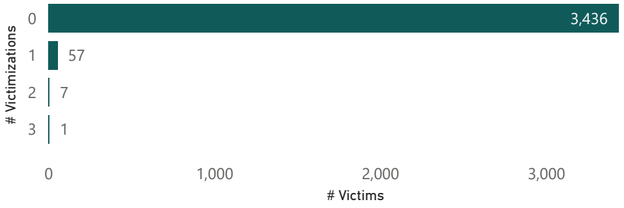
Prior Victimizations Per Victim



This number shows how many times a person was a victim of a crime between 2018 and their felony victimization, based on Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) records. If the victim refused to provide details or if the system could not match their information, the count could not be included.

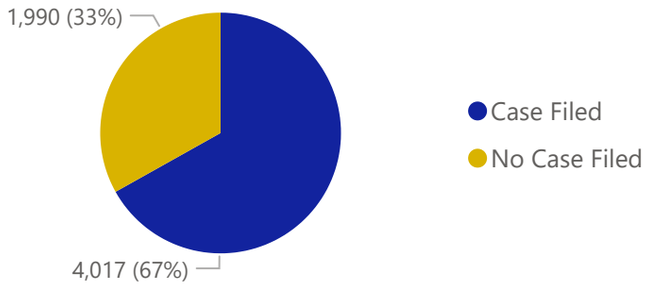
*All charts other than "Felony Victim Types" chart and the "Number of Victims per Felony Incident" chart are for Person victims only. Total is based on all victims.

MPD Felony Crime Arrests: Case Dispositions and Sentences

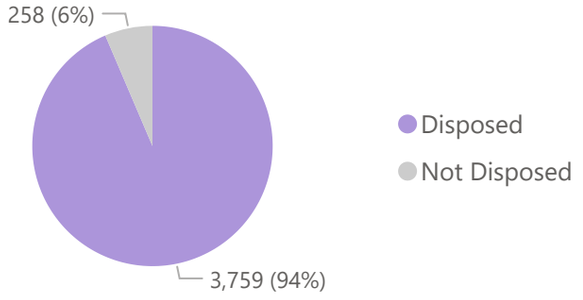
NOTE: The number of felony arrests may not match the number of felony cases reported by the Court, as felony arrests may not be papered as felonies, and misdemeanor arrests may, after further information emerges, be papered as felony cases.

Selected Year: 2024

Felony Arrest Case File Status

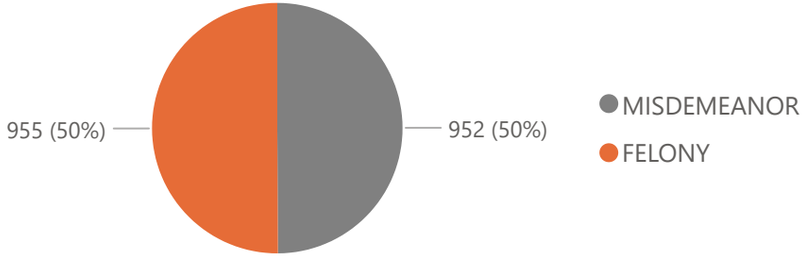


Felony Arrest Case Disposition Status



An arrest may not have a matching court case due to a variety of reasons, such as the case being no papered, the case not yet being papered at the time of the data pull, or clerical errors in entering the arrest number in either MPD or Court data.

Most Serious Charged Sentence in Cases Resulting From Felony Arrests



Arrests made for felony offenses may have resulted in cases disposed as misdemeanors for a variety of reasons, including lack of evidence for the felony charge, a plea bargain, crimes that can be both felony or misdemeanor depending on the facts of the individual crime or defendant's criminal history, and other reasons. This graph does not include cases that were disposed but not yet sentenced as of the date the data was pulled.

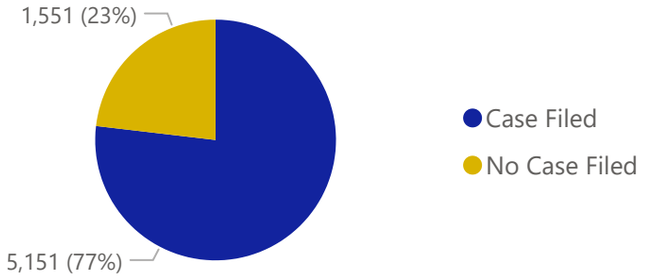
MPD Felony Crime Arrests: Case Dispositions and Sentences

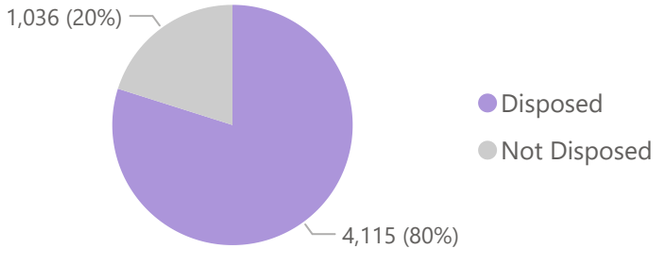
NOTE: The number of felony arrests may not match the number of felony cases reported by the Court, as felony arrests may not be papered as felonies, and misdemeanor arrests may, after further information emerges, be papered as felony cases.

Selected Year: 2025

Felony Arrest Case File Status

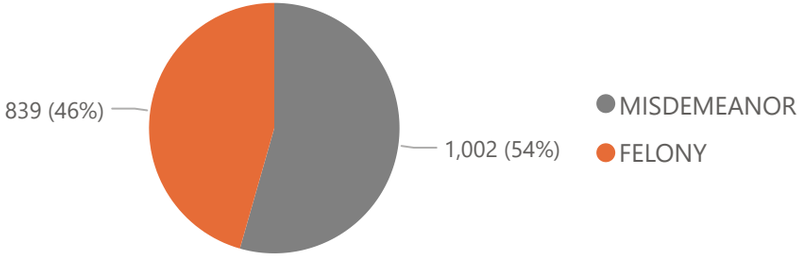


Felony Arrest Case Disposition Status



An arrest may not have a matching court case due to a variety of reasons, such as the case being no papered, the case not yet being papered at the time of the data pull, or clerical errors in entering the arrest number in either MPD or Court data.

Most Serious Charged Sentence in Cases Resulting From Felony Arrests



Arrests made for felony offenses may have resulted in cases disposed as misdemeanors for a variety of reasons, including lack of evidence for the felony charge, a plea bargain, crimes that can be both felony or misdemeanor depending on the facts of the individual crime or defendant's criminal history, and other reasons. This graph does not include cases that were disposed but not yet sentenced as of the date the data was pulled.

Data Dictionary

Source:

- The Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) provided data on MPD–led felony crime arrests, arrestees, and victims of felony offenses in which there was an arrest.
- The Department of Behavioral Health (DBH) provided data from November 1, 2015 to October 31, 2023 based on paid claims of the list of arrestees. Arrestees may have had touches prior to this period or after October 31, 2023.
- Outcomes of felony arrests and conviction history for people arrested for felony offenses and victims of felony offenses where there was an arrest were extracted from JUSTIS. The data were not verified by the DC Courts.
- PSA provided data on education level for individuals with PDIDs.

Definitions:

- Felony crimes are defined as crimes that are punishable by imprisonment for one year or more. CJCC used charges provided by MPD as well as insight from legal counsel to define which arrest charges are felony. (For more information, see this link.) Offenses that could be misdemeanors or felonies depending on the severity of the behavior, and where information was missing to appropriately classify the offense were excluded from this dashboard. Therefore, the counts of arrests and individuals arrested for felony offenses by MPD is likely to be a minimum.
- Arrest: refers to a unique instance of an arrest number. This method first sorts the data by CCN, Arrest Number, and Charge Number. Duplicate Arrest Numbers are removed. This results in only unique Arrest Numbers (not necessarily unique arrest events) based on the top charge entered by the arresting officer. It is least accurate with respect to juvenile arrests.
- Arrest Events: For operational reasons, multiple arrest numbers may be generated for a person during a period of time when they are continuously in custody. To avoid inflating counts of arrests, CJCC follows MPD's process of condensing all arrest numbers and charges processed for any single person arrested on the same day. CJCC condenses using arrest date, the arrested person's first name and last name, and date of birth.
- Top Charge: Totals are based solely on the most serious arrest charge, or "top charge"- associated with an arrest event, with that top charge classified as violent, dangerous, property, traffic, release/supervision violations, etc. (Please see the Offense Categories page of this dashboard for details). One person may be booked for multiple offenses containing more than one arrest charge at the time of an arrest event. Each arrest for separate offenses is counted as a single arrest.
- DC Crime Type: DC Code categorizes specific offenses as violent, dangerous, property, or traffic offenses. Offenses are categorized as violent or dangerous according to the definitions in DC Code § 23–1331; property crime defined as offenses under Title 22, chapters 32 and 33; traffic offenses as those that fall under Title 50, chapter 22. Other offenses that do not have a statutory categorization in DC Code have been classified such that the offenses that comprise these categories are internally cohesive and are meaningfully distinct from other categories. The purpose of this additional categorization is to support communication.
- PSA: A Police Service Area is a geographical subdivision within a Police District. Typically, each district has 8 or 9 PSAs.
- Number of Arrestees per Felony Incident: As more than one person may be involved in a single felony crime, this chart represents how many individuals were arrested for the same felony crime. Arrest events represent only one individual and thus felony incidents (CCNs) were used for this measure.
- Prior Adult Arrest Events: Individuals prior arrest history was assessed in prior calendar years using MPD data going back to 2018, as validated data prior to 2018 was not available. For example, for 2024, prior arrest events were calculated as any arrest event that occurred between Jan 1, 2018 and December 31, 2023. Any juvenile arrest history was not included.
- Victims: Victims of felony crimes may include private individuals, police officers, or entities or institutions (i.e. stores, courts, etc.). Demographics, residence, and prior history of victimization or criminal convictions are shown only for private individuals.
- Race and Ethnicity were combined for the purpose of this dashboard.
- MPD Division: The numbers followed by D indicate which district in which the arrest occurred. Specialized units represent the MPD's non-district divisions such as Narcotics and Specialized Investigations Division.

About this Dashboard:

- The numbers in this dashboard may not be comparable to MPD's reporting due to various factors, including felony crime definition, variations in the processing of geographic data, internal validation procedures for homicide data, internal validation procedures for felony crimes, and data refresh cycles.
- This dashboard contains arrests where the felony charge was credited to the MPD. It does not include arrests where the felony charge was credited to other District law enforcement agencies, independent agencies, or any federal law enforcement agency.
- This dashboard displays data related to arrests among adults and does not include data related to arrests among juveniles. However, children may be among the victims of the offenses in which an adult was arrested.

Data Dictionary: Offense Charge Categories

The offense categories in this dashboard are based on the D.C. Code and were compiled in collaboration with the CJCC's Interagency Research Advisory Committee (IRAC). This differs from the offense categories in the Reported Violent Crimes and Homicides and the Adult and Juvenile Arrests for Violent Crimes and Gun Possession dashboards, which are based entirely on MPD data. MPD categorizes its offenses based on preliminary DC Index crime data. The tables below are not an exhaustive list of all possible offense charges, but rather a broader categorization of the most common offense charges.
